From the yes-tiki-will-do-that department: Another week, another top five things to add to ever increasing tiki documentation set. Thanks to ricks99 for his excellent work on Spellchecking last week. You can join the party too.

Hey, you! Yes! You! This is an excellent week to jump into tiki documentation. Here's five things that we could use help with.

1. The Getting Started and Getting Help haven't been reviewed yet.
2. Getting Started needs to be researched and written
3. The Getting Started section is in need of many screenshots
4. The Getting Started section needs fleshing out, especially the FAQs Details section.
5. The Getting Started section has several missing images and some new features that need translating

If you have any questions, drop an email to the dev mailing list, or stop by irc. Keep writing and have a great week!
