Wiki page actions except viewed will always be recorded but ca

Some actions are always recorded as they are needed in other functions (the logging/loggout time and the wiki page updated) . Some others can be recorded by activating them individually through this panel, plus it can be chosen which ones are needed for each report, regardless that there may be be more actions being logged but not chosen to be displayed in the report.

Since Tiki 15.1, creating, modifying or deleting calendar events can also be recorded and displayed through the Action log.

Setting for viewing actions (anyÂ user)

Etc...

Adding the permission to the group/s ofÂ interest

An admin has to grant a group of users the permission to see action logs, as it should be done for any other permission (see Permissions). This permission is called tiki_p_view_actionlog.

Choose if user's activity log has to be public orÂ private

Another setting related to contributions is at Admin -> Login ("Displays user's contribution in the user information page:"). If enabled, a user will be able to see other user's activity log, including his/her contributions or the report. If not, only each owns logs will be reported, except for admin, which will be able to see the log reports of all users, groups, etc.

Report andÂ Statistics

An admin can obtain a report and some statistics on a user/s, group/s and category basis.
Any user can obtain a report and some statistics about his/her activity on a category basis.
In the Admin -> Action Log panel for an admin, or in My Tiki -> Action log for any user, the settings and filters can be selected.

Two actions have special meanings. The category action will record at the same time the action on a object is done the current category(ies) the object has. And the logging action that is only a switch to display or not the login statistics. Notice: if you change the configuration, the previous actions will not be changed. A new selected action (except for those that are always saved) will not show this type of action that have occurred in the past. If you take away an action, the recording and/or display will be updated accordingly from then onwards.

Moreover, contributions can be displayed as graphs (several graphs are produced), and they can be also saved in an image gallery for later re-use in reports through wiki pages, etc.
