This page needs more than review, as it is empty.
The main documentation on profiles is to be found on profiles.tiki.org, as creating and using profiles is lesser a Tiki user / administrator of productive websites but for more for a Tiki webdeveloper of a new project or for profile developers and huge topic itself ... that's why we have a specific profiles community website, which by the way represents our community profile repository.

Nevertheless, Tutorials should be based on generalised but specific use cases and generally belong here to the documentation website.
