Running on Apache - Intallation - admin works fine - able to set up some wiki viewable to admin - look at my site medclinician.com

set up forums.. (which come up n default)

Have check to allow new user...
registration..

try it.

and then you get a page of gook and at the end it says

Error Message Column 'user' cannot be null

So, deadlock. People are starting to register.. or try. I can't even set up second account manually.

What is wrong.. please send me a message at medclinician at pandemic-worldnews.com or post something in this thread. hope I can find it.

one last thing that site is medclinician.com messed up the spelling also getting a whole double quote of messages in forum when I get ready to post and this is a great piece of software.. but I to make it prettier and customize it.

First thing though add new users, allow mods to post and tweak with site..

SOS - help please!

This site is basically to provide documentation. It isn't the Tiki support site. You would have gotten a reply much earlier if you had asked at tikiwiki.org.

Sorry for your trouble but you shouldn't make your site live until you are sure everything is working properly. It seems you are using Wordpress now. If you haven't given up on Tiki, please ask any questions you have at the tikiwiki.org support forums.
